MWP Tactical Exchange-Traded Product (ETP)

Overview

The LPL Research Tactical Model Portfolio Committee (MPC) has made changes to the Tactical Exchange-Traded Product (ETP) model portfolios on the Model Wealth Portfolios (MWP) platform. These changes primarily target increasing exposure to large cap growth style equities and decreasing exposure to small cap style equities.

The Tactical MPC made these changes following tactical guidance from the LPL Research Strategic and Tactical Asset Allocation Committee (STAAC). The STAAC recently upgraded its tactical view on large cap growth equities and downgraded small cap value equities, based primarily on LPL Research's quantitative and technical analysis. Large cap growth equities, bolstered by superior earnings power, AI-driven momentum, robust balance sheets, and lower sensitivity to interest rate changes, outweigh concerns about higher valuations and rotation risks. Historically, large equities also tend to do well as the economy slows. In contrast, small cap equities are likely to face persistent challenges from rising interest rate volatility and a cooling economy in 2025, which supersedes generally attractive valuations on a tactical basis. The STAAC's tactical quantitative and technical analysis work indicates the small cap value equity outlook has deteriorated. Though small cap value stocks are attractively valued and benefit from their domestic focus in this tense trade environment, tactically, large caps possess better momentum, greater earnings power, and less interest rate sensitivity.

In most Investment Objectives (IO), we added to a large cap growth equity Exchange Traded Fund (ETF) (Ticker: VONG), funded by trimming or eliminating a small cap blend equity ETF (Ticker: IWM).

We don't expect risk levels to change following these trades and to continue to be fairly neutral relative to benchmark levels. All IOs continue to have benchmark weight allocations to equities, are underweight cash, and are overweight fixed income. Within the equity allocations, there continues to be an overweight to domestic equities, with an increased concentration in large cap domestic equities, and an underweight to emerging market equities. Domestic equity allocations are designed to have an overweight exposure to growth-style equities relative to value. The interest rate sensitivity of the core bond allocations is around neutral relative to the benchmark, and in all IOs there continues to be an allocation to preferred securities
